

EHS and Energy Policy

Our activities related to environmental protection, occupational health and safety and energy use are performed in accordance with the requirements of the MSZ EN ISO 14001:2015, MSZ ISO 45001:2018 and MSZ ISO 50001:2019 standards, the relevant legal and other requirements, as well as the central regulations of the parent company.

In addition to excellent quality, customer satisfaction and production efficiency, our core values include safety, health and environmental protection, as well as efficient energy use.

During the production of our components for the more efficient operation of electric, hybrid and internal combustion engines, we are committed to the use of technologies associated with lower environmental and health burdens and lower energy consumption, - the gradual reduction of risks and the generation of waste, - the prevention of work accidents and occupational diseases and environmental pollution, as well as efficient energy consumption.

We have set the goal of optimizing the use of resources, taking sustainable development into account, as well as introducing and operating selective waste collection in all areas, providing continuously improving working conditions that do not endanger health and our intention is to reduce our energy consumption.

BOGÁR, Attila
General Manager

FEJÉREGYHÁZI-KOZÓ, Anett
HR Director

We openly communicate and consult with our employees and interest representatives and involve them in the preparation of decisions related to EHS systems and energy management.

We constantly inform our employees and their representatives, our subcontractors and visitors that they have to carry out their work by respecting EHS and energy management regulations.

The management of BorgWarner Oroszlány Ltd. is taking into account compliance with this policy and they assumes responsibility with the employees for the realization of safe working conditions, environmental protection and energy management conditions as well as its communication and also regularly reviews compliance with EHS and energy management regulations.

We encourage all of our employees to make safety, health and the protection of our environment as well as energy efficiency, an integral part not only during their work, but also in all areas of their lives.

By complying with our regulations, we set a good example for our business partners and our environment.

Oroszlány, 06/01/2023

BORGWARNER